

Lulz 7 - Chapter 1 -
Elections Campaign

We've got to decide between us, if the negotiation fails, what will happen? Another world war? Aren't you already bored with these ones? We could solve the problems if we would just sit and talk.

You must be asking yourselves, "How did we come to this?"

Sitting in a meeting of super-srs ppl with Grizeloida – the root of all evil.

Sometimes life brings you to strange places.

Suddenly, before you notice, you've crossed the line

You've joined the bad guys, and you can't sleep soundly anymore

Maybe we should tell you how it all began...

We must leave this room with an agreement!

...That's not an unreasonable offer...

We've managed to take care of three moar of Grizelolda's university planets. The Blankogs have asked me to tell people to read "Fragment".

Tell me, you certified psychopath! What are you doing? Another anti-space has been discovered, and you haven't told me?

What do you mean, "It's all good"? How is it "all good"? An entire galaxy's fleet is, for some reason, about to be helping Grizelolda to protect the anti-space - which, if it grows even one millimeter above normal, will destroy the universe!!!

Lola is pregnant, there's no chance that something will happen to her.

Don't worry, I've sent Lola, it's all good.

another reason not to send her, of all people...

So don't let it be written in Hebrewglyphs!

Explain him...

I think he means Zlalas.

Zlalas came from the future. If his arrival had caused Lola to die in any way, he would have disappeared. That means that whatever we will do, Lola can't get hurt, at least until birth.

Which means she's immune to death

What does Zlalas have to do with this?

AHHHHHHHH
HHHHHHHHH!!!!

Why do you worry so much?

This is our Lola!!!

Grizelolda, I've had enough of these conversations! You've got to stop with this anti-space thing! Don't you realise how dangerous it is?! And it's neither sophisticated nor interesting. So why...

Who do you think you're kidding?! You're not afraid because it's dangerous. I know you. The only thing you're afraid of is that the Lulz will get hurt in one of their attempts to stop that.

You know very well that what worries me is the possibility they'll fail even once. And that will be the end of us all.

I've given you time to finish the Lulz. You didn't do it. They're obviously important to you.

Let's be a bit moar precise. The Lulz is the only thing that prevents the destruction of the universe. As soon as you'll stop trying to destroy the universe once or twice a week, I will finally be able to abolish the Lulz for you, so you'd believe me.

So there's only one thing left for me to do, the only way you won't get bored...

I'm bored. If it wasn't about the excitement of destroying the universe, what would be the point in living? Taking over the world again was a piece of space cake. They dropped all the charges against me. I'm already running for the next election, and no one else stands a chance. I don't even want to be elected again...

I'm starting to get curious.

The campaign advertising stage has started. There's your standard campaign, and all the others of the parties we bought. In the odd chance that one of them will win, you could replace them.

Boring!

Strange, I got a message that there's another ad of a party we haven't bought yet.

Don't tell me that the Luzl....

No, it's not the Luzl.

Good day, dear voters!

I am Xenu, the intergalactic bloodthirsty dictator! I will be completely honest with you: I'm going to be an evil dictator.

I've been pooling your leg till now with all the "positive energies" crap - that's only been a way to control you. To have you live in a dictatorship without noticing. To do one thing and call it by another name, and to expect you to be that stupid.....

But now I confess: I'm going to be an evil dictator if you'll elect me. But..... I'm not going to destroy the universe.

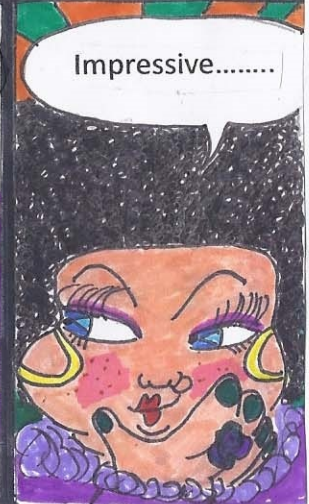

This is the difference between me and Grizelolda: she wants to destroy the universe. Believe me, it's better to live under the tyranny of a bloodthirsty dictator than to be destroyed along with the entire universe. After all, there's a chance that a dictator will be knocked down....

This is why you have no choice but to vote for me. It's not a great option, but at least you can agree with me that we have one common goal: that the universe won't be destroyed. Positive energies to everyone!!

Impressive.....

She should stop with those plagues that if no one stops them before they leave the planet they'll destroy all life in the universe. It's impossible to work like this, when Grizelolda is working us to death every second! We must get support. Why we're the only ones who're working hard? It's their universe too!

Not a chance. All the scientists in the world are trying now to destroy the universe, not to save it.

Xenu and Grizelolda are running against each other in the elections!

Oh, yeah, I forgot to tell you about this.

Oh, and I also hypnotize the manager of her campaign to accept one of us to work. Mister Unterhügel, So one of you needs to be mister Unterhügel and go there, I have no time, I'm so busy.

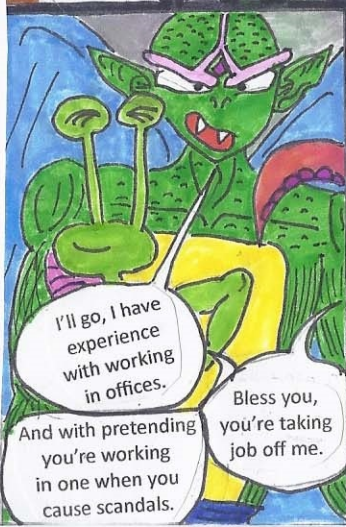

The manager accept a Luzl to work without any idea he did that?!

This is what you're doing when you have no time?

This is an amazing opportunity for us.

Those are actual the elections for the unification of the blue galaxies. The other galaxies are suppose to be independence governments, but all their factories and parliaments have being bought by Grizelolda. And consider to be her privet property. So these are actually the elections for the ruler of the universe.

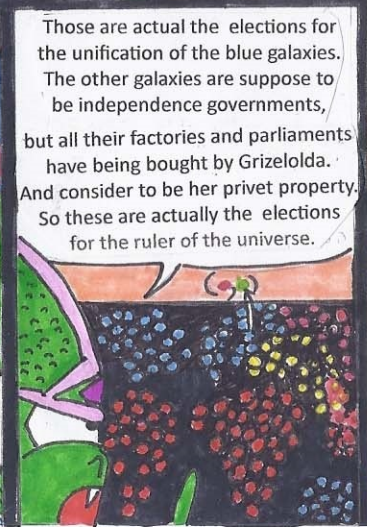

I'll go, I have experience with working in offices.

And with pretending you're working in one when you cause scandals.

Bless you, you're taking job off me.

Do you think we will ever understand how the universal politic works?

The key to a winning campaign is to throw dirt on the other side.

But as you can see, dear workers, the other side is currently throwing dirt on itself far better than anyone else could.

This is why we have decided on a surprising line of thought. We're going to throw dirt on the Lulz.

Huh?!?!?

Welcome to the debate between Xenu and Grizelolda.

Xenu is ungrateful! Who made the Lulz to free him? I did. So he could rule the world together with me, and now he's campaigning against me!

Grizelolda dares to talk about ungratefulness. Who taught her everything she knows about how to be a dedicator if not me? And how is she repaying me? Trying to destroy my favorite thing in the world - the universe!

The Lulz are those who freed Xenu. If we will present them as the bad guys, it could cause the public to not notice that Grizelolda wants to destroy the universe, or to think that it doesn't count, because a vote for Xenu would have to be a vote for the Lulz.

You think that they will buy it?

They are that stupid!!!

At the risk of repeating myself

And let's move to the topic of the most evilists. If you win, how are you going to deal with this problem?

It's because you like the universe moar than me! You promised me we will rule together, but now you want to rule alone!

How will we rule it together if it won't exist? You were the one who broke the deal!

Good job! There's someone who's listening to me! You're getting a promotion!

And you, who's asking stupid questions, will manage the spying operation on the Lulz. Go back here with every incriminating piece of information!

Friends! Code meadow! I repeat! Code meadow!

Uh-ha... And about the industrial areas. All the factories that produce everything we buy are in different galaxies than those we live in. And the ppl who live there don't enjoy those products at all.

You only think of yourself! You always complain that things are moar important to me, but I'm not important to you at all! You're trying to throw me in to volcanoes, to destroy the universe...

Exactly! The most evilists! That was the most interesting thing you could think of. Wow! To arm psychopaths! Like nobody ever did it!

Because the Lulz were moar important to you than me, and you wouldn't agree to get rid of them! The Lulz are moar important... The universe is moar important!

It's because you can't provide me with challenges! Rueling the universe is boring!

Well?! This is why I did these elections for you! And you're only complaining! If I make it moar interesting, you're complaining you're not important, if I help you, you complain there are no challenges! You can't decide!

And if we go back to the topic of the most evilists...

You're right! it's not interesting, we can talk during the debate about nonsense that has nothing to do with the questions, and no one will notice. Even if I will shout to the voters:

You're all idiots! I bought all the parties and parliaments, why do we even bother with the elections?!!!!

They wouldn't notice. Why do you think that anyone will vote for you, when I'm buying the entire world? You with your stupid "intrigues" like the elections. Are you not getting it? Wars and universes on the break of inhalation are the most interesting things!

Just you wait! The elections could be interesting. Ppl can suddenly vote for a psychopathic alien.

NO! You failed, Xenu!
You didn't manage to interest me.

You want interesting? I'll show you interesting! So let's begin. let's give the alien with the fat head, something like, 60 planets with plagues that can't leave the planet. I think that this is his limit, more than this, and we will have boring plagues spreading around the entire universe.

I will put the biggest anti space bomb that ever exists, and I will send all the fleets to protect it. It will give the most evilst the chance to take some galaxies, I could present myself as good when we'll take those galaxies back... Let's see Xenu, if you manage to find time for elections!

Here's your research!!!
I followed the Lulz for two weeks!!

Their scientist is curing diseases in galaxies from the third universe, their pilot is saving the universe from natural disasters of anti space completely by herself, and that third guy is organizing the crabs and they volunteer with orphans cripple and deaf cubs. And on their free time they volunteer with the homeless, and their longcat is a hospital clown.

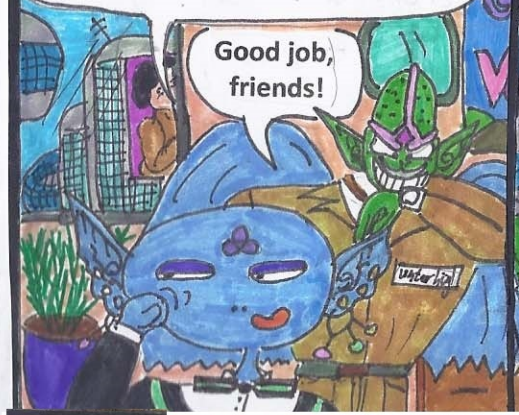

What am I doing?
What dept have I sank into?!
I spy on them to throw some dirt on them, when they are the only good ppl in the galaxy! I quit!
I move to a third universe galaxy and I'm going to volunteer with endangered animals.

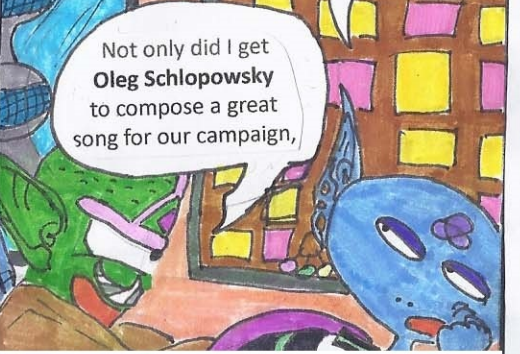

Go Lulz!!!

I forgot that it's a dangerous mission to get close to the Lulz. We're lucky his brain didn't explode.

And what did you do? Is the campaign song ready?

I also manage to get him a job with the Xenu crew with a false identity, so he'll compose for them a song that is not as good as ours!

Thank to the cat that someone is able to work here! But now I need you for a better mission. It won't help us to throw dirt on the Lulz. I need another idea. A way in which we could throw dirt on someone, so the public wouldn't care if the universe will be destroyed.

Let's run a party of the most evilst. And then they will decide to join forces with Xenu, so the universe wouldn't be destroyed.

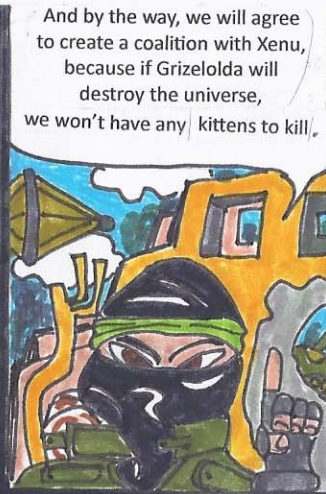

And then we could claim that voting for Xenu is voting for the most evilst!!!

This is an AWESOME idea!!!

Kill all kittens!
Kill all kittens!!

And by the way, we will agree to create a coalition with Xenu, because if Grizelolda will destroy the universe, we won't have any kittens to kill.

No, if she'll destroy the universe. She will destroy all the kittens with it! So we need to support her!

Let's start a war between different sects!

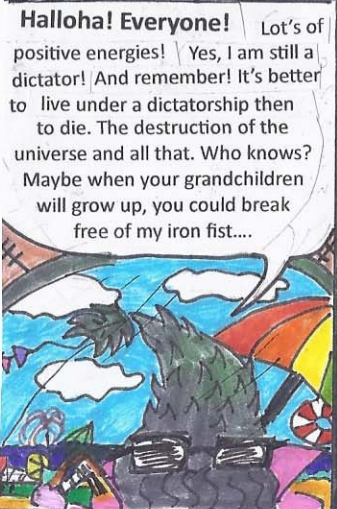

Yalla!!!

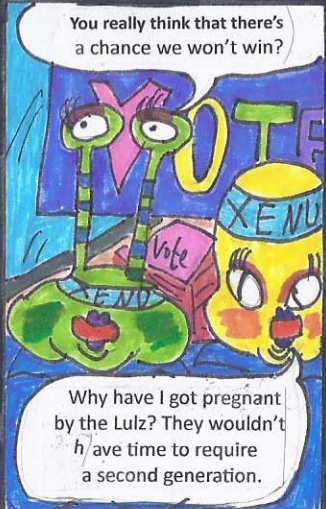

What's happening to me? I should have known we can't trust the most evilists!

It's the most-stupidest campaign I ever saw!

Halloha! Everyone! Lot's of positive energies! Yes, I am still a dictator! And remember! It's better to live under a dictatorship then to die. The destruction of the universe and all that. Who knows? Maybe when your grandchildren will grow up, you could break free of my iron fist....

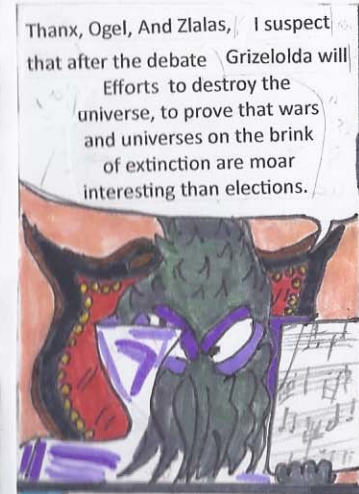

You really think that there's a chance we won't win?

Why have I got pregnant by the Lulz? They wouldn't have time to require a second generation.

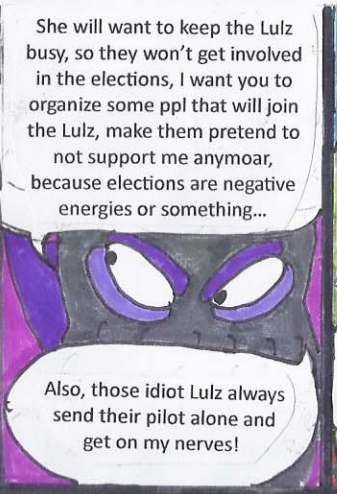

I am Ogel Spavlosky, and here's the jingle I compose for your campaign.

Hi hi hi! I'm a triple agent! Triple!!

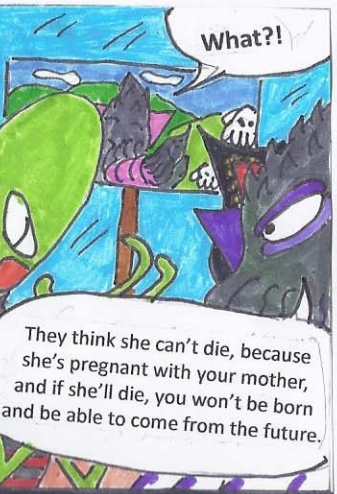

Thanx, Ogel, And Zlalas, I suspect that after the debate Grizelolda will Efforts to destroy the universe, to prove that wars and universes on the brink of extinction are moar interesting than elections.

She will want to keep the Lulz busy, so they won't get involved in the elections, I want you to organize some ppl that will join the Lulz, make them pretend to not support me anymoar, because elections are negative energies or something...

Also, those idiot Lulz always send their pilot alone and get on my nerves!

What?!

They think she can't die, because she's pregnant with your mother, and if she'll die, you won't be born and be able to come from the future.

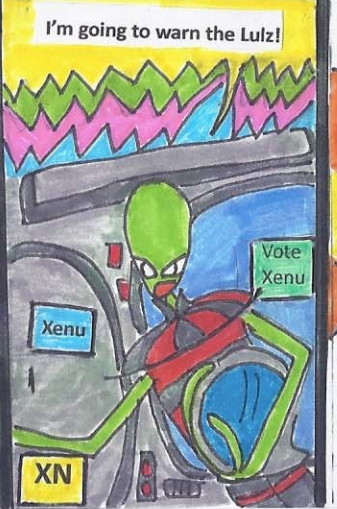

But I didn't really come from the future!!! If they send her alone then...

Look! Grizeloda attacked now with a huge anti-space to keep them busy! And she sent a fleet from all the galaxies of the Industrial areas! Their pilot doesn't stand a chance alone! It's a death trap!

Everyone to the spaceships!! Hurry! Damn Grizelolda! She doesn't understand that emergencies are not as interesting as political intrigues?

I'm going to warn the Lulz!

Vote Xenu

The pilot is only one person!

Zlalas!

Grizelolda! She's only trying to keep us busy, so we won't have time to campaign against her! How does she expect me to make that interesting? Such an amateur!

Oleg Schlopowsky, we know that you are also Ogel Spavlowsky! Who do you really work for?! We will interrogate you in the most horrible way there is!!

it depends... in the simple mathematical way, the answer is 4, but...

Awwwch!
Why do you electrify me in the middle of the answer?!
Is that polite to you?!

How much is 2+2?

But if, let's say, you start counting from 1, and not from 0? Let's say in music, two thirds together makes one fifth, so it means that 3+3=5. and if there's a comics festival every year, and you sold comics there twice – you waited between them one year, because you don't wait a whole year before the first time. So 1+1=1. and if you sold there 4 times – it makes 3 years. So 2+2=3.

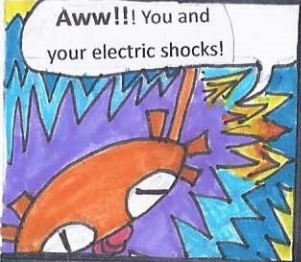

1984 doesn't work. Try the Star Trek one!

And if we have two spaceships with 70 headcrabs, and two spaceships with 80 headcrabs, then 2+2=300, so as you can see, there are many answers.

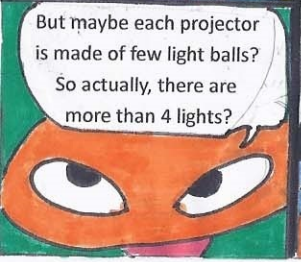

Yes, sir! How many lights do you see?

In first glance it looks like 4...

No! There are five!
Why do you tell me the answer? Is it fair? But how do we define light anyway? If you project me a picture of 4 lights, then every pixel in the screen is a light? Or if you project it from behind, so it's just one light. You're asking me things that how the cat should I know?!

We found out he's working for the Lulz.
You actually managed to pull that out of him?

But maybe each projector is made of few light balls? So actually, there are more than 4 lights?

No. They are simply the only ones that can blow up brains in that size.

Look, cubs! You think the blind cubs can't communicate with the deaf cubs. But today we will learn some ways...

The universe is in danger!!!

I didn't come from the future! I'm an agent of Xenu!
Wut?!?!!

Did you come back to the past again?

This is not important! We gotta hurry! The anti-space of Grizelolda will kill Lola and all of us with her!

We have to save her!!!!

No!!! We can't tell her the truth!
Right now her confidence is her only chance to get away from all those fleets together!

You're right! Come with us!

Are you insane?!?!?!?

Longcat! Push our spaceship with your extension! Nyan-cats! Open the wormhole! Crabs – Battle stations!

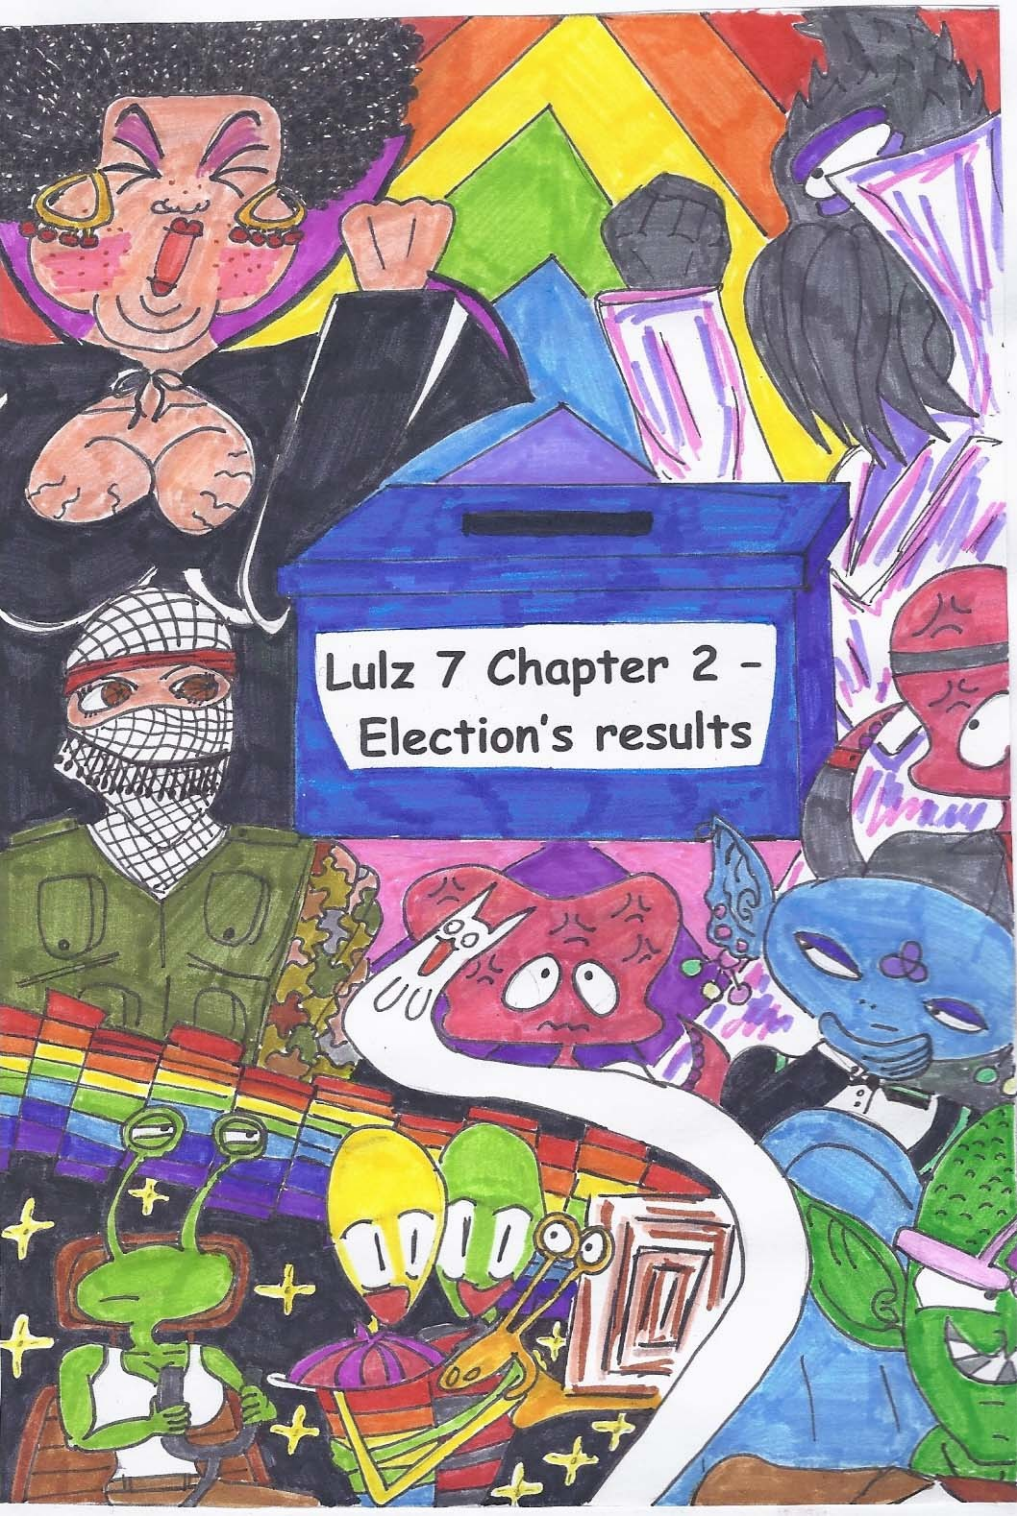

Snail – Think of a strategy to get us out alive from this!

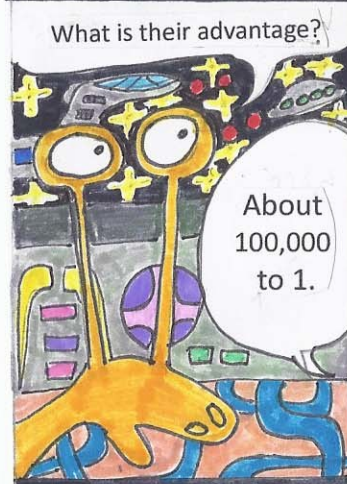

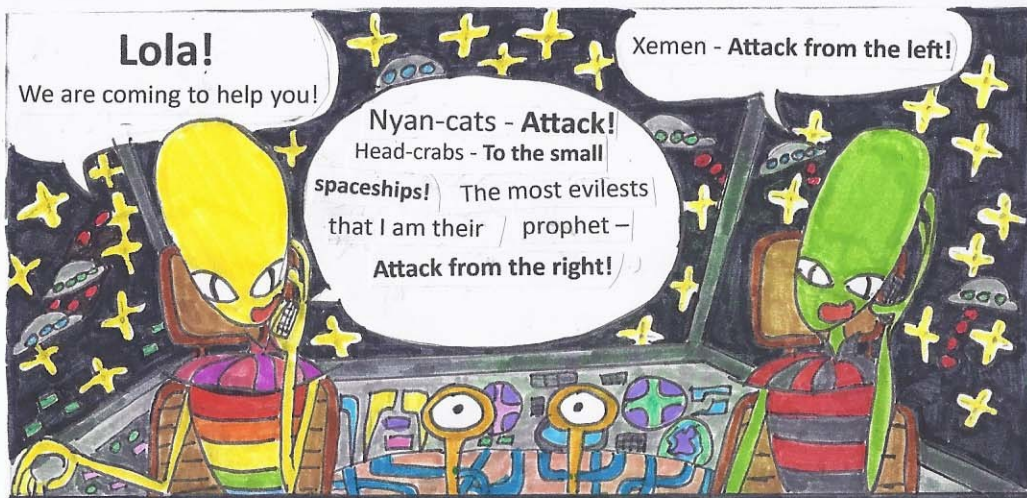

Wut?!?!!

to be continued

Lulz 7 Chapter 2 -
Election's results

What do you say? All the sects will unite for the universe, and we will continue the inner wars later?

Leave the kittens for now. Grizelolda's spaceships are the new kittens!

The most evilists are attacking! Leave all the others! We need as many pictures of us fighting them!

Lola, can you hear me? We're coming to help you! We will cover you! Concentrate only on destroying the anti-space with the positive space bomb!

No! You will get killed! I'm the only one who has a chance because the future and...

I was disconnected! The radio is down! Who could have hacked me???

Lulzy! Can you hear me???

Leave it to me.

Xenu? What are you doing here? Don't you have an elections to run?

Give this present to your daughter.

What is it?

Xenu is on our spaceship instead of me! He beamed me out and... Oh! It's my grandson...

He's no one's grandson, he was bullshitting us.

What are you talking about? My grandparents are still alive!

Headcrabs - code colorectal cancer!

Xenu is on our spaceship?!

So all this time I was in danger?!

It's crazy! Xenu is manage to avoid all the spaceships! He'll reach the anti space! The most evilists are preventing them from getting near him!

We will win!!

No! Wait!

It was 5 whole minuets, so they already managed to start inner wars!

All the fleet is chasing after Xenu!

The most evilists are starting to attack each other!

And I thought I was going to get out alive from this day...

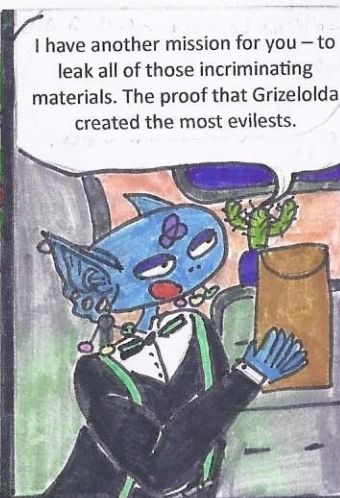

I presume I should tell you that the fight for the fate of the universe is happening right now.

What?! We gotta help them!

We won't make it on time.

I have another mission for you – to leak all of those incriminating materials. The proof that Grizelolda created the most evilists.

After our campaign that concentrated only on them, this is the only thing that the public cares about. It will promise Xenu the victory.

Did you think I don't know that you are a Lulz? Or should I say...

That we are Lulz?

I'm happy to see that you're on our side. But what will it help us to promise Xenu the victory?

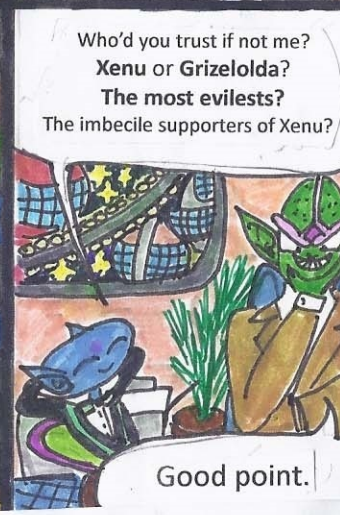

I managed to track a transmission that your crab at Xenu send, before it reached you.

don't look at me like this. If I wouldn't have tracked it down, Grizelolda's big brained would have. According to what he said there, there's a chance that the best thing for the Lulz is – if Xenu of all ppl will win.

Why should I trust you?

Who'd you trust if not me? Xenu or Grizelolda? The most evilists? The imbecile supporters of Xenu?

Good point.

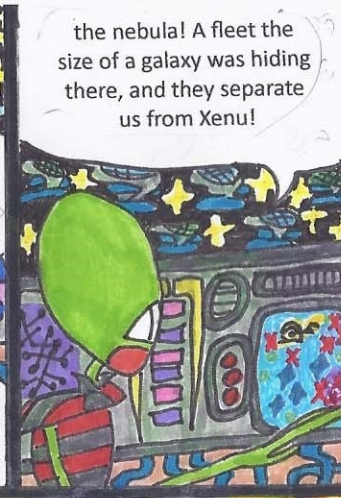

Xenu is still doing a good job, but their shooting hit him... maybe we could help...

Wait! Look!

Who ever is left – cover Xenu!!!

the nebula! A fleet the size of a galaxy was hiding there, and they separate us from Xenu!

She prepared a srs ambush right next to the anti space!

They are shooting at us!

That's it. It was nice knowing you.

The spaceship is going to explode!

We don't stand a chance! Beam us out to the closest planet!

but...

Now!!!

Xenu the intergalactic overlord won the elections after the secret documents from Grizelolda's campaign were exposure.

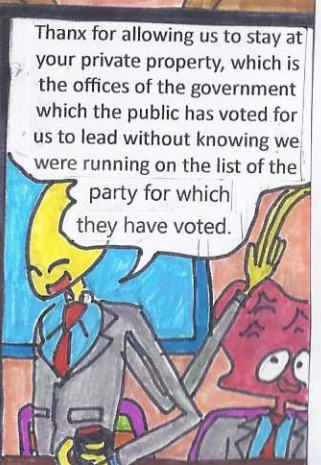

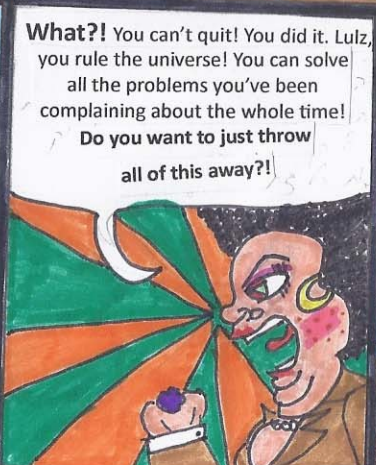

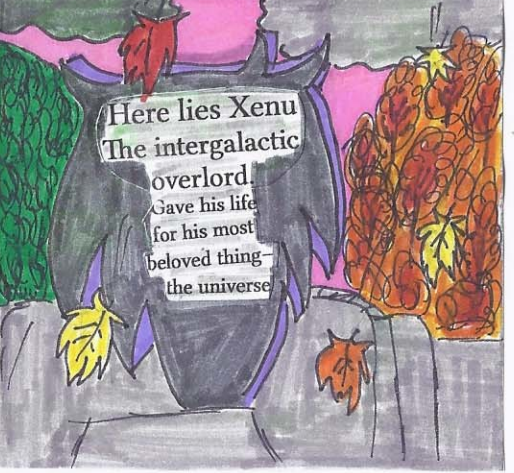

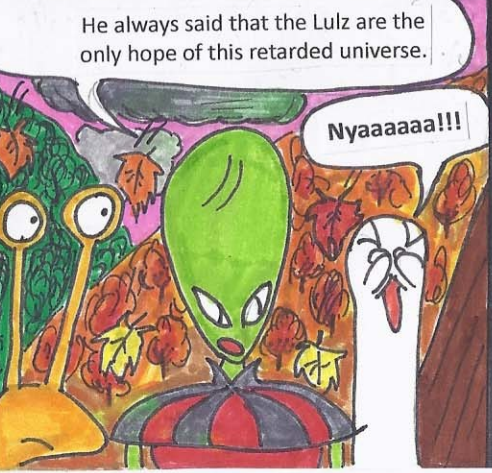

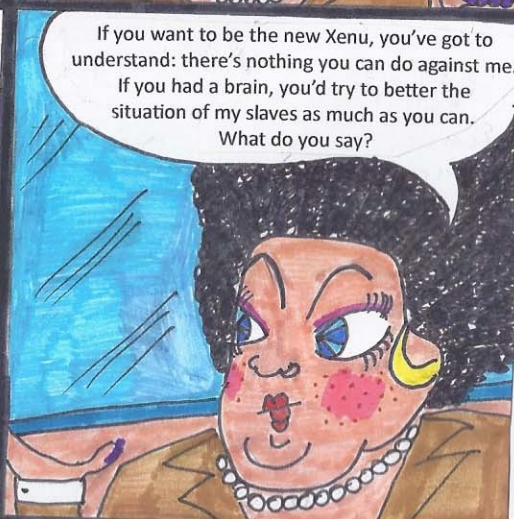

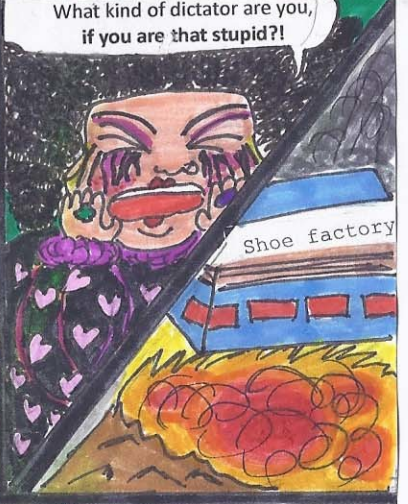

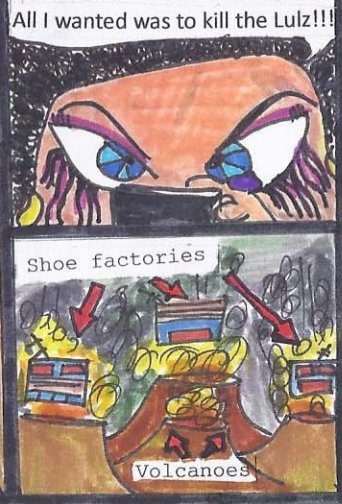

After his sudden death it still remains unclear who number two on his party list is, because nobody cared about it until now. Whoever they may be, no. 2 will now have to deal with the fact that they are the democratic ruler, but the parliaments and the governments remain Grizelolda's private possession.

So here we are. Sitting and negotiating with Grizelolda. We did it. We are ruling the universe now, but she owns the entire universe. There's nothing we can do.

Let's make a few basic laws: we'll make it look as if you managed to establish some laws about workers' rights and environmental issues and all that crap, but I will still own the universe. If the people will suspect, we can always go to war with the galaxies under the rule of the most evilist.

If you give up your parliamentary immunity you will be considered as fugitive criminals!

By whom? Only the new parliament could make such a decision. Good luck forming it.

Congratulations. But what would you do when all the governments, all the parliaments and all the businesses are owned by me?

First step – nationalisation.

Oh. Actually, we did only one action after the elections: we wrote another party member under us.

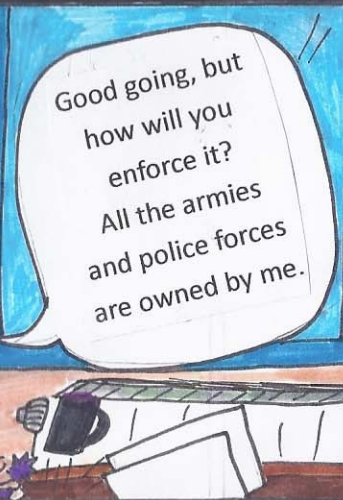

So, if we all quit then... Fax Reggae! You are the new ruler of the universe!

Well, well, well... I am the new dictator of the universe.....

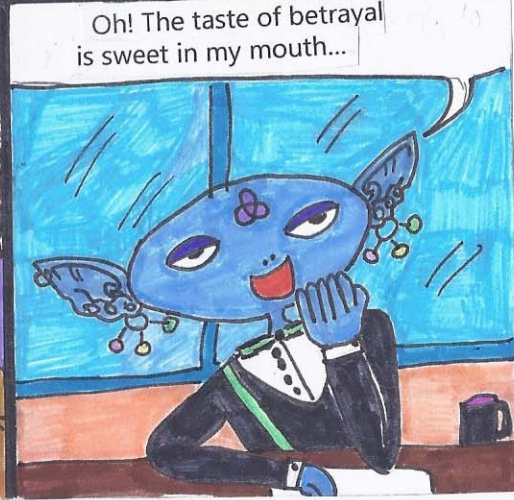

Good going, but how will you enforce it? All the armies and police forces are owned by me.

Except the most evilest....

But you were on my crew until now!

Oh! The taste of betrayal is sweet in my mouth...

I supply them with arms!

Let's find out if you supplied them enough...

I can sue you for being in this room! Take a lawyer, and tell your lawyer to take a lawyer himself, and tell his lawyer...

Do you think we did the right thing?

no.

When did we ever do the right thing? Right things are for suckers!

What do you think will happen now?

Grizelolda will find a way to make a puppet out of him, and put him in her pocket. And this time there will be no Xenu to restrain her.

You are the new Xenu, Zlalas.

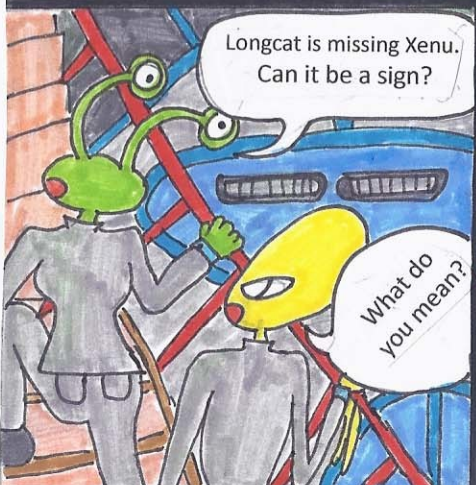

I'm pretty sure that most of Xenu's troops will follow you now. Even though your videos suck.

But beware - they're a bunch of idiots.

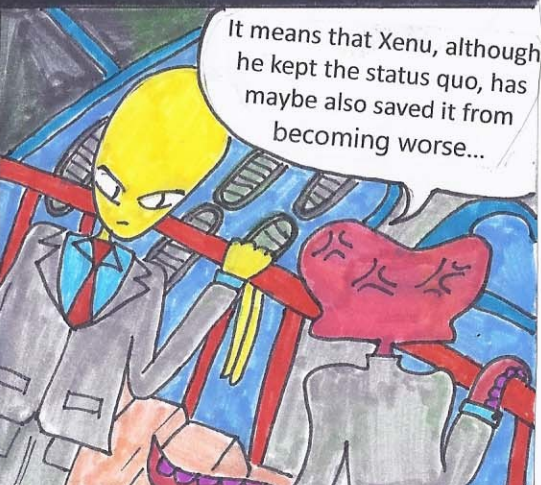

Nyaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!!!!

I know... I understand why you miss him... Somehow...

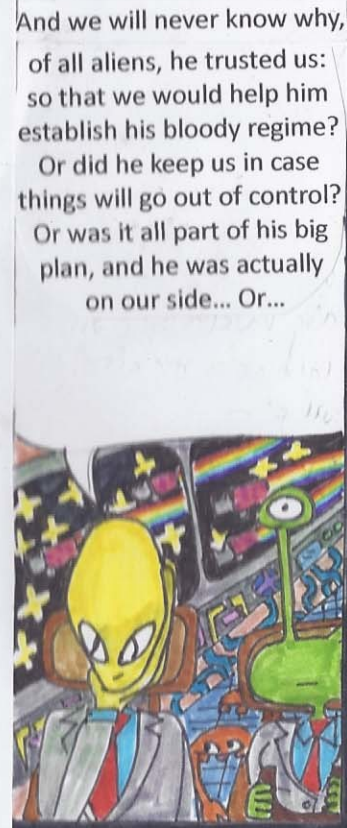

Longcat is missing Xenu. Can it be a sign?

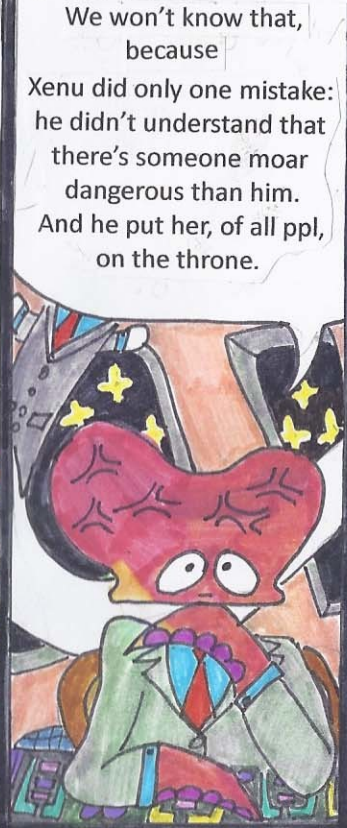

What do you mean?

It means that Xenu, although he kept the status quo, has maybe also saved it from becoming worse...

And we will never know why, of all aliens, he trusted us: so that we would help him establish his bloody regime? Or did he keep us in case things will go out of control? Or was it all part of his big plan, and he was actually on our side... Or...

We won't know that, because Xenu did only one mistake: he didn't understand that there's someone moar dangerous than him. And he put her, of all ppl, on the throne.

Xenu usually knew what he was doing. How do you think he made such a fatal mistake?

Oh..... The power.....

In memory of Xenu,
the intergalactic dictator